Dear Mrs. Fremantle:

Your inquiry of 5 March struck a sympathetic note here: for I have been much interested in the same sort of investigation as you are now pursuing. I have had the index of the voluminous Speer interrogations reviewed against what I take to be the objective of your study. This index is classified, or I know that you would have preferred to make your own selections from it.

In my view reports #7 (parts I and II), #13, #18, and #19 (parts I, II, and III) are the only ones from a mass of relatively technical material which would be of use in your study.

Of these reports #7, #13, and #18 are still classified SECRET, and I am making an effort to have them declassified so that they may be available for serious study. Meanwhile the pertinent parts of #19 have already been declassified as a result of my inquiry. I am reading them over myself, and I would be glad to hold these and any others which may be declassified for you to see in my office if you come down to Washington.

I wish you luck in your effort.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Anne Fremantle
